The Admiral Farragut Senior Class of '67

ALMA MATER

Under misty light of morning comes the call so clear,
Of the bugles wak'ning all to busy day now here.
By the restless surging waters of Ciega bay,
Stands our noble Alma Mater beautiful today.

Look upon the ebb and rising of the endless tide,
Sharply 'gainst the blue of heaven does she proudly bide.
'Neath the muted air of evening with its fading glow,
Swell the notes that to Old Glory laud and honor show.

Lift your voices sound the anthem high her banner raise.
Hail to thee our Alma Mater ever do we praise.

Headmaster's Message to the Senior Class

When you grow older and reminisce on your past, one of the brightest memories will be that of your graduation day.

What will make this memory so bright? Will it be the pride that showed on the faces of your family and friends? Will it be the well-deserved summer vacation that began that day? Will it be the diploma that you grasped so tightly? Will it be the anticipation that you felt for the challenge of a higher education?

Yes, the brightness of that day will be intensified by all these things, and that intensity will be strengthened by still something else—the graduation gifts that you received.

Not the cuff links, the car, the clothes, the records, or the check for a vacation trip, but that pile of intangible gifts that has mounted throughout your secondary educational experience: gifts of knowledge, friendship, respect, desire, spirit, experience, and opportunity.

We of the Academy hope that as you use these gifts you will discover that knowledge includes the awareness of what you do not know, that friendship is a dual process, that respect includes respect for yourself, that desire is virtuous when properly channeled, that a jocund spirit is a balm in times of trial, that experience molds future experience, and that opportunity does knock more than once.

When you have used all these gifts, you will discover that two more have been given to you. You will then have humble pride and proud humility.

Senior Class History

As the year draws to a close, we should look ahead to our lives as adults. Still, we cannot help but think of our past years here at Farragut. I know that none of us will ever forget these years, for they have helped mold us into mature, responsible, young men.

This class of which we are so proud, the class of 1967, had it's humble beginning in the seventh grade. Of that seventh grade, there are only five cadets remaining. But through the years, until the present, our class has gradually strengthened itself. The 1967 graduating class contains 62 top-notch cadets.

During the time we have spent here, our class has been in the upper ranks of the school in most activities. In their six years at Farragut, cadets Bowlus and Jenné have led the school in academics. Over two-thirds of the cadets in the senior class have participated in our interscholastic athletic program and have achieved distinction and state-wide recognition. Cadets Amos, Cabell, D'Urso, Lohse, and Green are among the most outstanding of these.

We are justly proud of last year's junior-senior prom, a great success. We hope that our senior class gift can be of great service to the school and to our fellow cadets we leave behind.

It has been said that it is easier to make a boy than to mend a man. Farragut has certainly made us into men who won't go wrong. We have been prepared for the world which we must soon face alone. Each senior has acquired a great amount of knowledge which would have been impossible to obtain at another type school. We have made many friends and have made progress mentally as well as physically. We have learned to respect our elders and our superiors. We have matured greatly, but perhaps most important of all, we have learned how to get along with others. These are the things Farragut has given us to help us in the future; as we leave this year to achieve our goals in life.

Respectfully Submitted,

Ken Stewart
Class Historian

As you are needed in our lives,
you were needed in this book
to add a little touch of beauty,
for years we'll turn and look.

Each portrait will be a reminder of a game, a date, a dance, at which you were here to give a hand, a smile, a glance.

And when you weren't with us
just a letter meant so much.
Written words were substitutes for a goodnight kiss or touch.

We're so glad you honored us with friendship through the year
So now in our book, we honor you for memories warm and dear.

Second Class History

The class of 1968 began in 1962 in the seventh grade with cadets Conlin and Scott, C. with the foremost aim of developing a class respected by all.

Next September upon our return, we will inherit new privileges. But more important, will be our responsibility to stand firm in our leadership and uphold the esprit de corps.

We juniors have chosen as our class motto an excerpt from the Athenian Code: "When it comes time for us to depart, may we leave our country to those who follow, better in some way than when we received it." I can faithfully claim that we will honor this code until the next class assumes the work of the seniors.

Third Class History

The sophomore class began the year with the largest class in its history. Among these cadets, five have been at Farragut since the seventh grade.

The sophomore class does not stand by and watch all of the other classes take the honors. Many cadets have attained military rating, Radford Star, and waterfront status. In academics, the class is headed by cadet Jeffrey Graham, with a 97% average.

Athletics is not to be overlooked either. Several cadets have participated in various junior varsity and varsity sports. Cadets Wohlgemuth, Green, T., Travis, Daniels, Graham, Haag, R., Haas, Whiting, S., McKenzie, and Conaway have made outstanding contributions to the athletic teams. Due to their hard work, Farragut has maintained fine teams as in the past.

The class this year has made many significant accomplishments and we feel that we are prepared to tackle the responsibilities as next year's junior class. In moving up to the junior class, we hope to make it the best class that Farragut has ever seen.

Fourth Class History

The history of the class of '70 began on September 17, 1964, when 13 cadets came through the door of the Academy. Most of us were frightened at first, but Cdr. Banks did his best to assure us we would soon become accustomed to the new way of life. In eighth grade we started to understand the idea of what senior school would be like, and it didn't seem easy, but we had good spirit and the year went along fine. We were reluctant at the end of the year when we had to say goodbye to our teachers, some of whom we'd had since the seventh grade. On September 19, 1966, only five returned from the eighth grade. There were many new cadets in our class now and it came to a total of 66 cadets, more than any other freshman class. Some of us plan to return through the senior year and if our present spirit continues with us, we will have a truly outstanding class.

Message to the Junior School

Arnold Toynbee once stated, "Life from childhood to maturity is not a harbor; it is a voyage."

As you complete one lap of your journey, I take the privilege of drawing from the words of this great writer and charge you to enter eagerly the next phase of your life alert to the fact that it is not going to be easy. You are living in an adolescent culture that is excessively competitive; a culture that vascillates day to day between acceptance and rebellion. The challenge of your generation, one of which I have great faith and hope, of moving from adolescence to maturity is inescapable if we are to survive. Maturity is the prerequisite of any human future and in order to achieve it we must understand ourselves . . . where we are . . . where we are going . . . and what we need to get there.

If you will enter into the higher realms of education fortified with a determination, not only to make something of your life, but make life better for the generations to follow, you can create an unconquerable human spirit that proclaims a place for you in immortality.

We Acknowledge

We, the members of the 1967 BUCCANEER staff, have enjoyed producing this yearbook. Not only have we profited educationally from the experience, but we have also become cognizant of the value of working together as a group toward a common goal, a goal of which we are, and hope the readers will be, most proud. However, the publication of this yearbook would not have been possible without the help of these individuals.

LT. WILLIAM ADAMS, our advisor, who advised us throughout the year as journalism instructor deserves unlimited credit.

CAPT. EARL CLARK, our headmaster, who has mastered the art of exactness and helped us set our standards high.

CDR. LUTHER STACY, administrative assistant, who assisted us with administrative details in the advertising section.

MRS. LUCILLE JACKSON, our bookkeeper, who kept our books patiently and helped prevent errors we might have made.

MR. BYRON KENNEDY, Taylor Publisher's representative, who represented our staff as well as Taylor Publishing Company.

Crew to explore a new world!

Vast unknown territory, rich potential. Some space travel. Ingenuity, adaptability essential. Challenging opportunity for skilled workers. Rapid advancement for adventurous high school and college graduates.

The new world? A small solar planet named Earth. Not visible to the unimaginative, but many can see it now. And—it's exciting!

The new world will be colonized by 90% of all the scientists known to history . . . and by technicians, specialists, teachers, writers, and many we can't name—because half the jobs there, ten years from now, do not even exist today!

How can you qualify for the expedition? Acquire skills needed for today's jobs—in college, technical, or special school. Then keep up with the knowledge explosion by continuing education—in seminars, adult education and TV courses, on-the-job or armed services training.

When you're set to take off, you'll go a long, long way. Bon voyage!

THERE WILL ALWAYS BE SOMEONE TAKING YOUR MEASURE

Some measures are taken with a tape but the more important measures of life are taken by people who size us up, whether it be a sweetheart, a classmate, a son or daughter, or a prospective employer. There is always some keen eye, whether we know it or not, scrutinizing the dimensions not only of our physiques but of our minds, abilities, and characters.

Your training at Admiral Farragut Academy has been designed to improve the dimensions of both your mind and character so that when you graduate it can be said that here stands a cadet foursquare to the world, ready and eager to shoulder the responsibilities which his particular talents and abilities qualify him to assume.

We measure cadets for uniforms. Our customers measure us in their appraisal of our ability to execute a uniform contract satisfactorily. It will be a never-ending effort on our part to keep our measurements good in the eyes of Admiral Farragut Academy.

We salute the graduating class and wish you all Godspeed in your chosen field of endeavor.

Slater School and College Services wishes to thank the members of the graduating class for their patronage—to say farewell, good luck, and good health.

Your school's administration realizes that classroom performance often depends on planned nutrition. Through ARA Slater, they have wisely invested in quality food, prepared and served in friendly style.

We hope you have enjoyed Slater meals and service—that mealtime provided a pleasant social break in the day's busy routine. From all of us, good luck and good health in the years ahead!
